4. With the two rows adjacent to each other, twist the second from top links together.

5. Repeat this twist on the second from bottom links.

6. Tie the bottom links of the last balloons together. You should have three 'sections' of four balloons.

7. Inflate four 12" Rose latex to 6" and tie two duplets.

8. Push each duplet over the twist points either side of the middle group of link-o-loons.

9. Inflate six more 12" Rose latex to 6" and tie three duplets.

10. Put these in the centre of each of the three 'sections' of link-o-loons.

11. Repeat steps 1 to 10.

12. Tie these two rows together length-ways using the knots of the tied link-o-loons.

Process

13. Inflate ten 12" Rose latex to 6" and tie five more duplets.

14. Using the duplets you've just made, cover the knots and fill the spaces between the two panels you've just tied together.

15. Inflate eight more Rose link-o-loons to 8" and tie them into a row.

16. 'Fold' the row in half and twist the two lines together at the middle links.

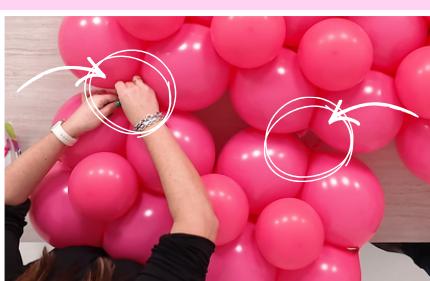

17. Tie the end links together.

18. Inflate six 12" latex rose to 6" and tie three duplets.

19. Use these to fill the gaps on the panel you've just made, similar to previously.

20. Tie this panel to the bottom left of the larger panel, using the exposed knots on each panel.

21. Inflate ten 12" latex rose to 6" and tie five duplets.

Process

22. Use three to fill the gaps you've made by tying the two panels together, similar to step 14. You should now see the shape of the heart.

23. To round the corners, start by inflating two 12" Rose Link-o-Loons to 8" and tie them together.

24. Tie these two link-o-loons to the middle part of the top right of the heart and use one of the remaining duplets to fill the hole that was created.

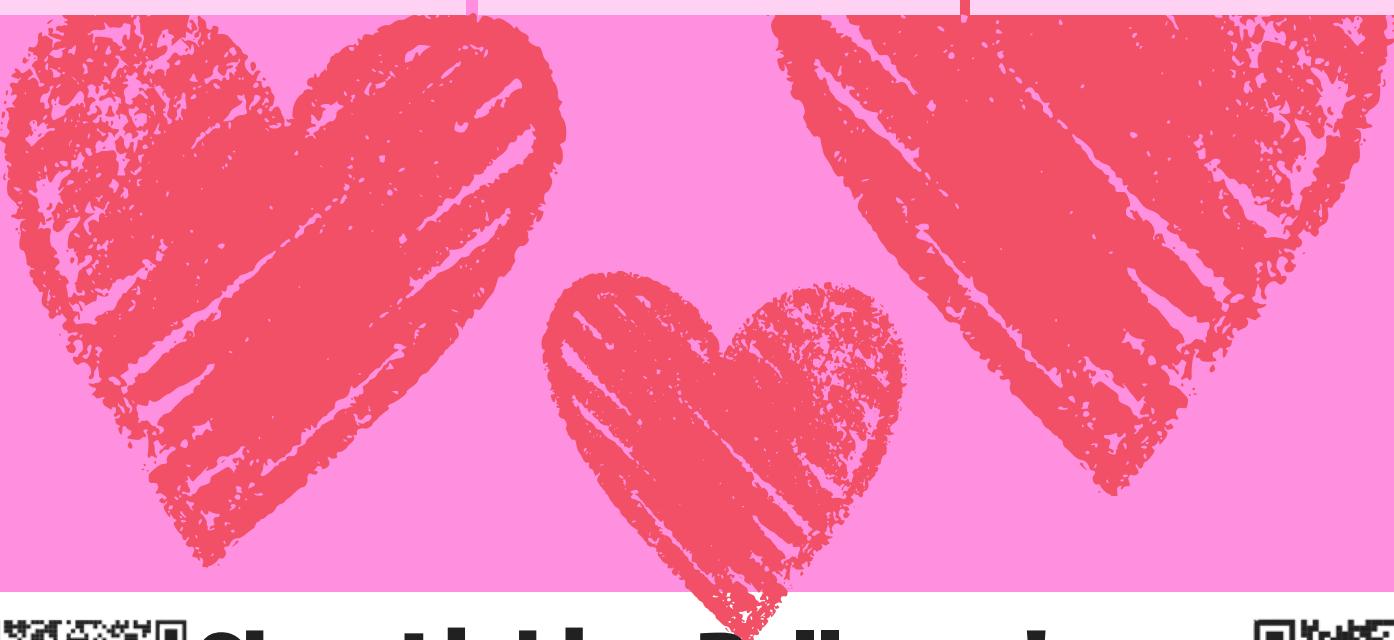

25. Repeat steps 23 and 24, but tie the balloons to the top left of the heart.

26. Inflate twenty-eight, 5" Rose latex to 3" and tie fourteen duplets.

27. Use these to cover each exposed knot around the outside of the heart to finish.
